Enbridge's Line 5 tunnel gets 'knockout punch' Great Lakes Business Network applauds Michigan Public Service Commission ruling on that favors a clean energy economy

LANSING, Mich. – The Great Lakes Business Network (GLBN) released the following statement regarding the Michigan Public Service Commission's (MPSC) decision to look at climate change as it relates to the tunnel permitting for Line 5 beneath the Straits of Mackinac.

"Today has been a landmark day for the advancement of the clean energy economy in the state of Michigan," said GLBN co-chairs Juliette King McAvoy and Larry Bell. "Now is the time to get to work promoting clean energy sources and finally shuttering Enbridge's Line 5. The MPSC's recognition of the oil pipeline's climate impacts effectively delivers the knockout punch to Enbridge's Line 5 tunnel proposal – which will serve to alleviate this pervasive threat to our economy, drinking water, and public health."
